

About the University

The University of Calgary is a comprehensive research university that, in its short 36-year history, has grown to take its place among the finest institutions in Canada. Combining the best of long-established university traditions with the City of Calgary's vibrant energy and diversity, the university aims to provide a research and scholarly foundation for students eager to acquire the knowledge and skills essential for a successful personal and professional life.

Our 213-hectare campus is a beautiful and dynamic setting for scholars in 16 faculties, 53 departments and more than 30 research institutes and centres. Our 1,917 full-time equivalent teaching and research faculty are actively engaged in research and scholarship. With over 2,500 full-time equivalent support staff, the university is Calgary's fourth largest employer. Nearly 26,000 full-time equivalent students, including 900 international students from 87 countries, are enrolled in undergraduate, graduate and professional degree programs. This year, the university will graduate its 100,000th alumni.

Facilities

The main campus features 20 academic buildings with the recent addition of the Calgary Centre for Innovation Technology (CCIT) - many of which are interconnected by enclosed walkways. The MacEwan Student Centre and newly refurbished addition of MacEwan Hall represent a tremendous hub of activity at the university. There is also a museum and arts gallery, four performance theatres, a childcare centre and residences for single students and students with families.

Additionally the university recently acquired the Imperial Oil Research Centre in the University Research Park just north of the main campus. The medical school is located on the south campus adjacent to the Foothills Hospital. The Kananaskis Field Stations in Kananaskis Valley and the Rothney Astrophysical Observatory near Priddis, south of the city represent satellite institutes of the university. Site development for the university's west campus is currently taking place, where the new Alberta Children's Hospital will be located.

The University of Calgary features some of the finest athletic facilities in the country, featuring Canada's only covered speedskating oval and home to the fastest ice in the world. The Oval also houses the Canadian Sport Institute, a high-performance training centre and two Olympic-sized rinks where the reigning women's gold medal hockey team trains. There are also tennis courts, a triple gymnasium, the city's largest racquet centre, an Olympic-size swimming pool, weight rooms, jogging tracks and a huge indoor climbing wall. Nearby is the home of UofC Dinos football team, McMahon Stadium.

Research and Education

As one of Canada's top ten research universities, innovation, discovery and learning are at the heart of all that we do. Our relentless pursuit of quality in our teaching and research programs is guided by our mission to contribute to the well being of the people of Alberta, Canada and the world. The university belongs to 17 Networks of Centres of Excellence, an innovative national approach to research and development designed to develop Canada's economy and improve the quality of life for Canadians. About 75 chairs and professorships in such areas as American studies, schizophrenia, project management, cancer and intelligent manufacturing attract renowned scholars and leading researchers to the U of C. There are now over 30 endowed chairs supported jointly by government and industry. Revenues from sponsored research (including deferred

Research brings significant benefits provincially, nationally and internationally, and is the foundation of Alberta's economic and social vitality. It is core to the university's teaching and research mandate. Our vision, with the help of our stakeholders and partners, is to achieve a place among the top five research universities in Canada by 2010.

Highlights in the History of the University of Calgary

- Alberta becomes a province. The Alberta Normal School for training teachers is established in Calgary.

- Premier A. C. Rutherford names Edmonton as the site of the University of Alberta (U of A).

- Strathcona (now a part of Edmonton) is named as the site of the provincial university. Enraged, Calgarians conduct an unsuccessful battle to have the university relocated to Calgary.

1907

- Calgary College is created.

1912

- Calgary College opens its doors as a private post secondary institution. It has no degree-granting status.

1914

- A provincial commission recommends against giving Calgary College degree-granting status.

With that goal in mind, the university offers quality undergraduate education that is characterized by the synthesis of research, teaching and learning. We mean to enhance the undergraduate learners' experience by using a student-centred focus that maximizes opportunities to provide a distinctive learning experience that fully integrates the features of a research university. The university is broadening opportunities for students to take inquiry-based courses that lead to greater critical thinking skills, increased exposure to research methods and greater access to leading edge scholars.

Our efforts have raised our global profile, enhanced the quality of our undergraduate and graduate programs, promoted innovation and excellence in scholarly activity and provided significant returns and tangible benefits to our community and economy.

Governance

The University of Calgary has two governing bodies:

The Board of Governors is the corporate body charged with the management and control of the University, its property, revenue, business and affairs.

The General Faculties Council is primarily responsible for the academic affairs of the University.

Each faculty has a Faculty Council empowered to determine the faculty's programs of study and to authorize the granting of degrees.

The Students' Union and the Graduate Students' Association provide for the administration of the affairs of students and the promotion of their general welfare.

Teaching, Learning, & Curriculum

The University of Calgary is committed to providing students with meaningful, and quality learning experiences. All programs encourage students to achieve a "graduating student profile" which is based upon their development of a set of core competencies that integrate skills and abilities. Guidelines for curriculum redesign were approved in 1998 as part of the Strategic Direction initiative. Students are actively involved in the process which is the basis for ongoing curriculum innovation at U of C. Six features permeate all programs and are described within the seventh, the Explicit Syllabus document. Curriculum features include: clearly identifiable field of study, defined interdisciplinary component, international component, relevant experiential learning, integration of research, broad and extended faculty-student interaction.

Make Your Degree More International

The University of Calgary is committed to preparing its students for life in an increasingly global economy and society. An International Component will be part of every undergraduate student's degree program at the University when the current curriculum changes are finished, and is already a requirement of many programs. An International Component will provide students with an understanding of international relationships and issues with a particular view to the benefits and challenges of interaction of peoples, cultures and environments around the globe. It provides opportunities to develop an awareness of international, multicultural or aboriginal perspectives.

All students are encouraged to enrich the international component in their program in one or more of the following ways:

1. By participating in a term-abroad, field school, credit travel study, or student exchange experience in another country. Students should contact their faculty or the International Student Centre for information or visit the ISC Web site. (www.ucalgary.ca/UofC/students/ISC)

The University has one official mark – the Coat of Arms. It can be used in its three colour or black and white format. The Coat of Arms must ALWAYS appear with the University of Calgary word mark – either horizontally or vertically. It is trademarked and protected by copyright. Details of how the University Coat of Arms should be used can be found at www.ucalgary.ca/uofcimage/

Official Colours

The university has three official colours which appear in the Coat of Arms.

Red PMS 485; Gold PMS 116 and Black.

Coat of Arms

The Coat of Arms consists of a shield, an escroll containing the motto and the wordmark in either a horizontal (with the wordmark to the right of the crest) or vertical (with the wordmark below the crest) format.

UNIVERSITY OF CALGARY The shield consists of two parts, the upper part (the chief) separated from the lower (the base) by an arched line symbolizing the Chinook arch. The ground colour of the chief is scarlet, commemorating the North West Mounted Police under whose influence Western Canada was settled. Upon this colour is a pair of open books bound in gold. Between the books is a white rose, symbolic of Alberta. The ground colour of the base is gold, indicative of golden sunshine or golden grain. Upon this is a black bull's head with red horns and crossed staves bearing red flags, reminiscent of the family crest of Lt. Col. J.F. Macleod, the NWMP officer who founded Fort Calgary.

Below the shield, printed on an escroll, is the university's motto, "Mo shuile togam suas" (translated as "I will lift up my eyes"), rendered in Gaelic uncial letters. The scroll is white; the draped ends are red. They were granted to U of C in 1966 by Lord Lyon King of Arms at Edinburgh.

- Land in Houndsfield Heights is exchanged for the present campus site.
- The Board of Governors at the U of A sells all land south of 24th Avenue because the Calgary Branch of the University of Alberta would never grow large enough to use it.

- Radio broadcasts and ads on top of milk cartons are designed to encourage enrollment at the Calgary Branch of the University of Alberta.

- The Calgary University Committee urges an expansion of the Calgary Branch of the U of A and succeeds. First years of the BA and BSc are offered.

- First year of BComm is offered.

- The name changes to University of Alberta in Calgary (UAC). By now the first years of the BSc (Eng) and BPE are offered.

Tartan

The university has an official tartan that incorporates the U of C's official colours of red, black and gold in its design. It was designed by Jim Odell, a U of C Education and Fine Arts graduate, and accredited in a ceremony presided over by Duncan Paisley of Westerlea, President of the Scottish Tartans Society and director of the Register of All Publicly Known Tartans.

Whenever appropriate to the design, the official U of C tartan should be used.

The Mace

Certain formal occasions involve the use of special regalia, the significance of which is now symbolic but most of which has practical origins. In early times the mace was used first as a weapon to protect and second as a symbol of authority.

The mace carried into Convocation is a symbol of the authority of the Chancellor. It represents the Crown and the authority vested in the Chancellor to grant degrees. It is always carried in front of the Chancellor at Convocation. One interesting tradition in the use of maces is that if the real authority (the Queen) was present in person, the mace would be inverted.

• Sod-turning for the present campus. The Department of Public Works begins levelling the land.

- The new campus opens with two new buildings, Arts and Science A. McMahon Stadium opens. M. G. Taylor is appointed principal.
- April 1, Gauntlet editor Alan Arthur launches the first Bermuda Shorts Day by writing on a chalkboard "Wear shorts tomorrow." The major events are a huge marble tournament and a game called squamish.

1961

- The name changes to University of Alberta, Calgary. The first physical education building opens.

1962

- The 80-acre research park is designated. Campus patrol arrives. Full degree study is offered.

1963

- Students begin a drive for autonomy from the University of Alberta.

Bookstore

In order to meet the specialized needs of students, faculty, and staff, the University operates a Bookstore, which serves the campus community from four locations. The main Bookstore offers required and recommended books for courses at the lowest possible prices. Information Resources

Information Resources combines the expertise and services of the University's information providers - the University Archives, the Image Centre, the University Library, The Nickle Arts Museum, and the University of Calgary Press - to assure provision of full access to the best recorded knowledge and creativity in a variety of formats and media.

The University Archives

The University Archives' mission is to preserve and build the institutional, administrative, research and cultural heritage of the University of Calgary. In pursuit of this mission, the Archives is responsible for the management of three related programs.

The Archival Program ensures the preservation of the academic, cultural and research heritage of the University. Under this program the Archives acquires and maintains all records of permanent value created and received by the various governing bodies of the university and its officials. In addition to the institutional records of the University of Calgary, the Archives aggressively acquires private records which pertain to areas of research pursued on campus. Included amongst these are the political development of Western Canada and post-secondary education in Southern Alberta.

Through its Information Management Program (IMP) the Archives provides leadership in record-keeping literacy, and develops record-keeping rules that ensure the creation, management and preservation of reliable records which are trustworthy as evidence. The Information Management Program also provides advice on and develops electronic record-keeping strategies for the University of Calgary community.

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Program (FOIP) is responsible for ensuring that University faculty and staff understand and comply with Alberta's Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act. This Program develops, coordinates and implements policies, guidelines and procedures to manage the institution's compliance with the Act.

The University Archives is located on the 12th floor of the MacKimmie Library Tower. Research services are available Monday to Friday, from 10:00 AM to 4:30 PM.

Telephone: 220-7271

Image Centre

The Image Centre is responsible for providing comprehensive services for students and staff requiring the use of images in various forms. Services available include access to the Media Library, the Slide Library, Photo/Imaging Unit, the Framing/Shrinkwrapping Unit, the Digitization Centre and several media preview areas.

The Media Library is the central repository for films/videos/CDs and DVDs on campus and includes more than 9,000 titles. Bookable viewing rooms for individuals or groups are available for preview of any of these titles. Slides from the Dept. of Greek and Roman Studies and from the Faculty of Environmental Design have been amalgamated in this space.

University Library

... connecting people and information

The University Library provides a vast range of information resources, services and research expertise to support the diverse information needs of students and faculty in all disciplines.

Ranked among the largest research libraries in Canada, our collection includes approximately five million books, journals and microforms, PLUS: maps, airphotos, audio recordings, music scores, architectural and literary archives, electronic full-text, image and data files. The digital resource base is expanding rapidly.

MacKimmie Library (the 'main library') is located at the centre of campus. Four branch libraries are situated near the faculties or departments that use their services most frequently: Gallagher Library of Geology and Geophysics, Health Sciences Library, Law Library, and Management Resource Centre.

The new Information Commons is the focal point on campus for information services. It is an integrated learning environment in which information resources and technologies are combined with expert staff who provide research consultation, information navigation, and technological assistance to support scholarly use and production of recorded knowledge. For student convenience, there is 24-hour access (Sunday-Thursday, during term) to this state-of-the-art facility, 2nd floor MacKimmie Library.

The University Library is open 90 hours each week, offering access to the resource materials as well as reference assistance, specialized information consulting and instruction in the skills and process of information retrieval and management to equip independent learners for success in the knowledge era.

Library resources and services are also 'delivered to your desktop' via our online information system, featuring the Library

University Press

University of Calgary Press (UC Press) was established in 1981 and since then has developed an active publishing program. It publishes up to thirty new books each year, nine scholarly journals - both print and electronic - and three yearly University of Calgary calendars, including the undergraduate, graduate, and medicine calendars.

UC Press primarily publishes scholarly and non-fiction trade works with particular focus on the Heartland of the Continent: the geographic region spanning the Canadian and American Wests including the North, the mountain regions and the Great Plains; innovative and experimental works that challenge both established form and content, especially in art and architecture; and works of international interest with particular emphasis on Latin America and Africa.

Within these focused interest areas, UC Press publishes several series: Art in Profile (Canadian Art), Latin American and Caribbean, Open Spaces (Literature), Parks and Heritage, Africa: Missing Voices, and Legacies Shared (concentrating on memoirs, diaries, etc. from the West). UC Press welcomes manuscript submissions both from the University of Calgary faculty and from scholars and writers outside the University community.

Electronic publications are the focus of the Digitization Centre established in May 1999. The Alberta Heritage Digitization Project (AHDP) provides people from all over the world with immediate access to many Alberta historical resources such as local histories, folklore, early newspapers, art, and retrospective legal material. This work-in-progress can be viewed at <http://ahdp.lib.ucalgary.ca/>. Our Roots/Nos Racine: Canada's Local Histories Online is a pan-Canadian digital initiative led by the Press's digital arm. Check out <http://www.ourroots.ca> to see an ever-growing collection of Canada's French and English-language local histories. The Legacy Calgary website will be launched in 2003. Other current digitization projects include documenting Canadian electronic publishing resources and publishing conference proceedings electronically.

The Nickle Arts Museum

The Nickle Arts Museum is an outstanding centre for learning, academic research and discovery. Located on the west campus next to MacEwan Hall, The Nickle Arts Museum offers a full program of exhibitions and events addressing contemporary and historical art, numismatics, as well as compelling social and cultural topics. Arguably one of the finest exhibition spaces in Western Canada, the museum was bequested to the University by the late Calgary oilman Samuel C. Nickle. The subsequent donation of his son, Dr. Carl Nickle, created the base of the museum's exceptional numismatic collection.

The museum promotes aesthetic sensibility and visual literacy through provocative, temporary exhibitions. Our programmes centre on contemporary Canadian art, but also extend to historic and international art, numismatics, aesthetics, archaeology, ethnology and history. The Nickle Arts Museum is also home to two outstanding public collections. Throughout the past two decades, the permanent collection of art has grown to be one of the finest representations of Western Canadian art of the twentieth century. The museum also houses a major numismatics collection, including over 16,000 items with a concentration on the Greek, Roman and Byzantine items. Both collections and exhibitions are available to scholars for research and for visiting classes from all disciplines. Formal teaching at the Nickle is focussed through the Museum and Heritage Studies Program, a minor degree offered through the Faculty of Communication and Culture and taught through the museum.

The Museum Shop offers a wide selection of unique giftware, unusual cards, stationery and elegant jewellery plus Calgary's finest selection of art publications. Located on the main floor of the museum, admission to the shop is free. Admission to the Nickle is free at all times for students, $1 for children and seniors, $2 for adults, and free to all every Tuesday.

Red Deer Press

On July 1, 2000, Red Deer Press moved to the University of Calgary campus as an affiliate to the University. For twenty-five years, Red Deer Press has published literary fiction, nonfiction, drama, poetry, children's illustrated books, young adult fiction, teen fiction, and adult trade titles. The Red Deer Press mandate is to develop books by, about or of interest to Canadians with special emphasis on the West.

Since its reorganization in 1981, the Press has grown from a single-title-per-year publishing program to one producing 16-20 original titles annually plus approximately 10-12 reprints. The Press publishes books under eight imprints: Discovery Books (illustrated natural history titles for youth and adults); Prairie Garden Books (garden design and development books for prairie gardeners); History Along the Highway Books (regional popular history books for travelers); Roundup Books (fiction, nonfiction, and poetry thematically based in the North American ranching west); Writing West (poetry from the four western provinces); Northern Lights Books for Children (illustrated books); Northern Lights Young Novels (juvenile and young adult fiction); Sirrocco Books (teen fiction for 14-20 year-olds). In addition, the Press has three series in Canadian drama, adult fiction, and children's first chapter books. Segmented by genre, the overall program is approximately evenly split among literary, children's and general trade books. Segmented by market it is approximately evenly divided among, regional, national and international titles.

The growing reputation of Red Deer Press's

Northern Lights Books for Children and Northern Lights Young Novels is largely due to the efforts of the former series editor Tim Wynne-Jones and current editor Peter Carver. Several international rights deals have resulted from their efforts, primarily in the United States but also in the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, Denmark, Germany, China, and Quebec.

Red Deer Press has frequently been referred to as a "guerrilla publisher," creating viable products for markets too often ignored. With a growing international market for its books, in the form of rights sales and exports, Red Deer Press is coming to the fore as a high quality trade book publisher. The difference now is that Red Deer Press is doing it for an increasingly larger audience, and the University of Calgary has taken an active role in ensuring that the trend continues.

Red Deer Press offices are located on the 8th floor of the MacKimmie Library. Usual business hours are 9:00 am to 5:00 pm, Monday to Friday.

The Students' Union

From humble beginnings in an army hut on the old University of Calgary campus, the Students' Union has grown into a large, effective, advocacy and service group for all undergraduate students at the University of Calgary, each of whom is automatically a member.

The Students' Union is independent of the University, incorporated separately under the Universities Act. As such, the SU can advocate on behalf of students on any issue. The motto of the Students' Union is "to serve and represent students." The service aspect is accomplished through a variety of Students' Union activities.

The SU owns and operates a full-service restaurant and bar, the Used Bookstore, where books are sold on consignment, a convenience store, and the Copy Centre, which offers affordable copying services to the campus community. In addition, the Students' Union manages MacEwan Hall and MacEwan Student Centre (see below).

The Students' Union is governed by a 21-member Students' Legislative Council (SLC), elected from the entire student body each March. The council consists of five executive members: a president and four vice-presidents, who are all full-time employees of the Students' Union, and 16 commissioners. The vice-presidents and commissioners are split into four commissions: Academic, External, Events, and Operations & Finance. The Club Committee is also a non-voting members of the SLC, and is elected each year by the Clubs sanctioned with the Students' Union.

The Students' Academic Assembly (SAA) includes 13 elected Faculty Representatives (one from each faculty) as well as the four Academic Commissioners. The SAA represents students on many University committees, as well as provides academic assistance through workshops and tutor referrals. The SAA also sponsors the annual Teaching Excellence Awards, and is available to assist students with academic grievances and appeals.

The External Commission represents students to all bodies outside the Students'

Union on non-academic issues. This includes dealing with the University administration, other students' unions, and all levels of government on issues like tuition, student loans, transit, daycare and housing.

The Events Commission is responsible for much of the social life on campus. They plan and coordinate a large number of events and activities during the year. This includes awareness weeks, Cinemania, Wired Wednesdays, Special parties such as Snow Pants Day, and anything else the commission can think of. They are also responsible for health and safety issues on campus, including acting as the liaison for the Safewalk program.

The Operations & Finance Commission is responsible for overseeing and monitoring the Students' Union annual budget of about $8 million. The commission is also responsible for the overall coordination of a comprehensive health and dental insurance plan for students and the administration of over 140 student clubs and societies on campus. They also act as the liaison with the levy groups such as NUTV, CJSW, the Gauntlet, Student Legal Assistance, Refugee Student Board, and the Accessibility Levy Board.

Finally, the President is responsible for ensuring the Students' Union runs smoothly and reflects the attitudes of University of Calgary students. He/she acts as a spokesperson for the Students' Union and ensures that all decisions made by SLC, SAA and executive cabinet are implemented by representing students on many University committees and boards.

For further details on any aspect of Students' Union operations, please contact the Students' Union office 251 MacEwan Student Centre.

University Child Care Centre

Our mandate is to provide and promote childcare services for the children of students, faculty, staff and alumni that make up the University of Calgary Community.

At the UCCC we believe that play is imperative during the early years of life. Our goal is to provide an exemplary inclusive program that supports and encourages the unique potential within each child. We do this by promoting the natural process of play in an enriched setting that provides optimal conditions for each child to grow at their own pace.

The Centre is open from 7:30 am to 5:30 pm Monday thru Friday. We are closed on all statutory holidays, two professional days per year as well as the week between Christmas and New Years.

Admission. Applicants are prioritized within each age group on the basis of their waiting list application date. The order of priority placement is first given to University of Calgary students followed by University of Calgary faculty, staff and alumni with the exception of children who have a sibling attending the UCCC, in which case sibling placement takes priority. To be on our waiting list you must turn in a completed waiting list application form accompanied by a non-refundable registration fee.

For more information please call us at 220-3303.

The University of Calgary Alumni Association

The mission of the University of Calgary Alumni Association is to promote and foster the pride, loyalty and lifelong commitment of alumni to the University. All graduates of the University of Calgary automatically become members of the Alumni Association, without fee, upon graduation. The Association is governed by a volunteer Board of Directors, which includes graduates from a broad range of program years and disciplines.

The Alumni Association is represented on campus by the University's Office of Alumni Relations. With the Alumni Relations office, the Alumni Association offers several programs and services that benefit students - the alumni of the future. Support for student scholarships and bursaries, library acquisitions, professorships and chairs, faculty-based enhancements, and other institutional needs comes from the Alumni Annual Fund program, other donations from alumni, and through alumni affinity programs such as group rates on home or auto insurance. As well, students are employed as callers in the Alumni Annual Fund program, as degree framers at convocation, and as database researchers. Through Online Connections for Life (www.ucalgary.ca/alumni/connections.htm), which includes an online career mentor program, students are offered valuable information from alumni working in various fields. A number of alumni displays on campus give students a look back at U of C's early days, profile distinguished alumni, and highlight alumni activities of interest to students. At convocation, graduands enjoy refreshments and snacks courtesy of the Alumni Association, and they can have their degree parchments custom framed by U of C students in distinctive U of C-crested frames, available exclusively through the Alumni Relations office.

The University, the Alumni Relations office, and the Alumni Association and its Board of Directors work collaboratively to develop a strong, interdependent partnership. The Alumni Association Board of Directors includes the two Association representatives on the University Board of Governors (appointed by the provincial minister of advanced education); two Association representatives to the General Faculties Council; two Association representatives to the University Senate; President of the Students' Union (or designate), and President of the Graduate Students' Association (or designate). The President and Vice-President of the Alumni Association are also members of the University Senate as referenced in The Universities Act. As well, there is a representative of the Alumni Association appointed to each of the
